Report on Seminar: A Legal Research Database Orientation on 17th October 2023

The Children Welfare Centre's College of Law recently hosted an engaging seminar titled An Orientation to India's Leading Legal Database for its law students and faculty. The seminar aimed to equip future legal professionals with the knowledge and skills to utilize Manupatra, one of India's most popular and comprehensive legal research platforms. The session was led by Mr. Manish Vibhandik, a distinguished expert in legal research and an experienced trainer in legal technologies.

Mr. Vibhandik began the seminar by introducing Manupatra as a vital resource for legal professionals, law students, and academicians. He emphasized its significance in simplifying the complex process of legal research by offering a vast repository of case laws, legislative updates, legal commentaries, and journals. He also discussed how the platform's advanced features contribute to more efficient research, making it an indispensable tool in the legal field.

During the session, Mr. Vibhandik provided a comprehensive demonstration of the platform, walking students through its interface and explaining its primary functionalities. He highlighted various features, including searching for case laws using keywords, phrases, and citations; applying advanced filters to refine results; and accessing legal commentaries and judgments. He also introduced students to tools like legal analytics, alerts for case updates, and Manupatra's ability to provide a comparative analysis of case laws.

An interactive Q&A session followed, where students eagerly asked questions about the practical aspects of using Manupatra for legal research. Mr. Vibhandik not only answered their queries but also shared expert tips and strategies for optimizing their research efforts on the platform. This segment proved to be particularly enriching, as it allowed students to clarify their doubts and understand how to apply the database effectively in real-world scenarios.

To ensure practical understanding, a hands-on activity was conducted during the seminar. Students were encouraged to explore the platform on their devices while Mr. Vibhandik provided real-time guidance. This exercise helped participants familiarize themselves with the platform's layout and functionality, enhancing their confidence in using it independently.

The seminar concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by the faculty coordinator, who appreciated Mr. Vibhandik's efforts in making the session informative and interactive. The students expressed their gratitude and enthusiasm, acknowledging the immense value the seminar added to their academic and professional growth. Many participants requested additional workshops on advanced legal research tools to further hone their skills.
